

A Touch of Glass

Modern cockpits offer so much information that a pilot is easily distracted by the management of all that information. Pilots who have received comprehensive training on their equipment will have a much better mastery of their equipment and fewer distractions. Join us for a look at the new equipment available. Michael Kerrigan, Garmin's Regional Sales Manager will be here to show you some of the new products available. L3 Communications will demonstrate their new products. Food and Prizes! Please click on the link below to register for this fun and exciting event!

Directions: Please see map link for directions, seminar will be in the Main Hangar.
